Awakening the Field Societal Issues

This conference is about all these societal issues that shape our lives. It's about what is concerning us. About what we try not to have to face. About what it means to be human in this world. Where we are coming from and where it all might be leading to. And it's about expanding our views, opinions and paradigms.

Just to give you a taste, an 'atmospheric impression', these topics will be addressed.

- Arawana Hayashi: 'The Art of Making a True Move' in a one hour plenary.
- Zita Tulyahikayo: Issues of racism and slavery. And bridging divides.
- Jan Jacob Stam: The influence of the digital world
- Iman Mandour and Bashar Al Safadi: Corruption.
- Guni Baxa: How can indigenous wisdom meet modern wisdom
- Meirav Schreiber: Expands our awareness on: 'Who is my (our) authority?'
- Francesca Mason Boring: Nature and environment. 'Be warned, it might be unsettling a bit when we address these topics'
- Juliana Bohórquez: Fractal communities in preserving wild lands and Amazonia.
- Ting Wen Chou: Touching work in Fukushima and environmental disasters.
- Bibi Schreuder: Facing the future of education
- Iveta Apine: The algorithms of repressive systems
- Tanja Meyburgh: Female leadership and the relation with land
- Barbara Hoogenboom and Petra van de Kop: Civic Leadership
- Jan Jacob Stam: Movements of Migration and Refugees
- Stephan Hausner: to be announced
- Elena Veselago Russia: Changing role of Men and Women

We will use the blessings of being connected online; the freedom and strength of online constellations, the possibility of looking each other directly into the eyes, even if there are oceans between us.....
